Introduction

The Finance survey is conducted annually as part of the National Center for Education Statistics' (NCES) Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS). IPEDS collects finance data in order to help fulfill the NCES mandate to report on the financial condition of postsecondary education in the nation. Finance data are also important to monitor changes in postsecondary education finance and to promote research involving institutional financial resources and expenditures.

Financial data collected in this survey include current funds revenues by source, current funds expenditures by function, utilities expenditures, scholarship and fellowship expenditures by source of funds, library acquisition expenditures, indebtedness on physical plant, details of endowment assets, selected fund balances, hospital revenues, and physical plant assets. These data are used for peer and aggregate analysis.

Finance data are also needed for reporting and projecting the revenues and expenditures of a national activity representing a significant component of the GNP.

Survey Methodology

Overview

The fiscal year 1996 data on financial characteristics of postsecondary institutions are from the Finance and Consolidated surveys that are conducted annually by NCES. These surveys are part of (IPEDS). The financial data in this file represent 6,960 postsecondary institutions and system offices, of which, 6,615 are eligible to participate in Title IV federal financial aid programs in the United States, and the outlying areas. There were 345 institutions that had self-reported eligibility and were found to be ineligible based on the Postsecondary Education Participation System (PEPS) file of March 1997.

Universe of Institutions, Mailout and Followup Procedures, and Response Rates

A major subset of all postsecondary institutions are those institutions that are eligible to participate in Title IV aid. It is this group of institutions that annually receive the finance survey. In past IPEDS surveys, eligible institutions were self-identified and included those institutions accredited at the college level by an agency or association recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education. [Any other postsecondary institution that has at least one program of 300 or more clock hours (or 8 credits) and was established for at least two years was also included in the subset of eligible institutions. The latter group was based on self-reported responses to items on the Institutional Characteristics survey].

Beginning in 1996, the subset of eligible institutions was validated by matching the IPEDS universe with the PEPS file, which contains the "true" eligibility status of postsecondary institutions. This file is maintained by the Office of Postsecondary Education (OPE). OPE grants eligibility to institutions to participate in Title IV federal financial programs. Using the PEPS file as the source for determining eligibility, 7,120 institutions and system offices were mailed Finance or Consolidated survey forms.

The Finance (F) survey was mailed to 3,908 eligible postsecondary institutions that were either accredited at the collegiate level in the previous academic year or are 4-year eligible institutions that offer a bachelor's, master's, doctor's or first-professional degree. All 96 system offices were mailed the (F) survey regardless of accreditation status or type of degree offered. The "Consolidated" (CN) survey, that collects a limited amount of financial data, was mailed to the remaining 3,116 institutions that were eligible at the time the forms were mailed.

Survey forms were mailed in July 1996. The survey results were collected from November 1996 through June 1997. Followup for survey nonresponse began in December 1996 by telephone and letter. Nonrespondents to the mail survey were asked to provide total current funds revenues and expenditures and revenues and expenditures by major category (e.g., tuition and fees, instruction, scholarships and fellowships). During this time period institutions determined to be out-of-scope were deleted from the universe. These deletions resulted from formal notification by IPEDS state coordinators, the Department of Education eligibility notices, and from followup telephone calls. Included in the deletions were: (1) duplicates of other institutions on the file; (2) institutions that closed or had merged with another institution, and thus were no longer a legitimate institution or branch; (3) institutions that no longer offered postsecondary programs; or (4) schools that did not conform to the IPEDS definition of a postsecondary institution or branch. At the conclusion of this process 6,960 institutions and system offices remained as the 1996 finance universe. The finance universe is also adjusted to reflect institutions that changed from one sector to another subsequent to survey mailout.

Table 1 shows the number of postsecondary institutions in the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the outlying areas that were mailed a finance survey (or the consolidated form); the final in-scope universe receiving either survey form; the number of in-scope institutions that responded and response rates. The unit response rates were calculated as the ratio of the number of institutions responding to the survey divided by the number of in-scope institutions in the final universe. The overall response rate for the 6,960 institutions in the 1996 postsecondary finance universe was 90.5 percent.

Included in the calculation of the 90.5 percent response rate are 30 private non-profit institutions and one for-profit institution that represent a special circumstance. These institutions are among roughly 500 institutions which participated in a pilot study of a new private, not-for-profit form that was designed to collect financial information which is consistent with changes in accounting and financial reporting standards issued by the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB). Institutions were asked to fill out both the new pilot test form and the finance (F1) form. However, 31 of these 500 institutions were only able to fill out the new pilot test form (having changed their accounting system to accommodate the new accounting model). Since they filled out the new form, they are counted as respondents. However, since they were unable to fill out the old (F1) form, their finance data based on the F1 form were imputed. These institutions which are listed in appendix D are identified on the data file by their response status (RSTATUS = 5) code.

NOTE: Survey forms were mailed to all 96 central offices. Of the 96 central offices, 69 returned survey forms. Of the remaining 27 central offices that did not return survey forms, 26 were omitted from the file. It was assumed that they either had no finance data to report, or their finance data had been included with their associated campuses. Ventura County Community College System office was imputed, because they and their associated campuses did not respond to the survey and in previous year the system office reported data for their campuses. The sector of an institution at the time of mailout may differ from its sector in the final universe because an institution's sector may change due either to a shift in the highest level of offering, or to improper classification by sector in the prior year.

Change in Universe Definition

In 1996, the Education Department discontinued its tradition of distinguishing between institutions that are accredited at the college level from other Title IV eligible postsecondary institutions. Therefore, it is not possible for NCES to maintain an updated subset of institutions accredited at the college level, NCES' traditional definition of higher education institutions.

Therefore, in the 1996 and subsequent IPEDS files, institutions are identified as Title IV eligible and either (1) degree-granting - those that offer either an associate's, bachelor's, master's doctor's or first-professional degree: or (2) non-degree-granting (certificate only) - those institutions that offer only certificates at any level. Institutions offering only post-baccalaureate, post-masters, or first-professional certificates and institutions offering certificates of less-than-4-years are included in this group.

Table 2 provides the number of institutions and survey response rates by eligibility status and degree-granting status by sector of institution. The eligibility status of an institution was updated in March of 1997 and 345 institutions that were sent a finance or consolidated survey had lost eligibility status. On the final file, there are 6,615 eligible institutions or system offices. Of these 4,100 are degree-granting. It is this group of institutions that IPEDS will consider as higher education institutions in subsequent data collection and reporting activities. The number of institutions, total current funds revenues and expenditures by eligibility and degree-granting status, by their 1995 accreditation status is provided in table 3.

— Less than 0.05 percent

NOTE: The percent difference between accredited institutions and degree-granting institutions column (9) was calculated by subtracting column (7) institutions that were accredited in FY 1995 and are not eligible degree-granting in FY 1996 from column (5) institutions that were not accredited in FY 1995, but are eligible degree-granting in FY 1996 and then dividing by column (3) and multiplying by 100.

The higher education universe as defined by Title IV eligibility and degree-granting status is very similar to the higher education universe defined by accreditation status. Of the 4,100 eligible degree-granting institutions, 3,667 or 89.4 percent were accredited in fiscal year 1995. There are 433 eligible degree-granting institutions that were not accredited in fiscal year 1995. The majority of these new higher education institutions are private for-profit institutions, which include 18 four-year and 265 two-year for-profit institutions. There are 126 accredited institutions that will be excluded from the higher education universe because they either are not eligible for title IV funding or do not grant degrees. Most of these are 4-year and 2-year non-profit institutions. Also, 11 less-than-2-year accredited institutions are excluded from the new higher education universe.

While the difference between the number of Title IV eligible degree-granting institutions and accredited institutions is small, the differences in the revenues and expenditures is even smaller. The overall net change of 7.5 percent in the number of institutions accounts for only a 0.3 percent change in revenues and expenditures. The largest net changes in revenues and expenditures of about 40 percent occurred in 2-year for-profit institutions. Because the revenues and expenditures in 2-year for-profit institutions are small compared to all other institutions the increase due to these additional institutions has very little effect on the total revenues and expenditures of all institutions. For example, the revenues of eligible degree-granting 2-year for-profit institutions ($1.5 billion) accounts for 0.75 percent of the total revenues of all eligible degree-granting institutions.

Editing Procedures

For schools reporting detail in current funds revenues (part A) and expenditures data (part B), and expenditures on scholarships and fellowships (part E), the following editing procedures were used:

- (1) The unrestricted and restricted columns of current funds revenues and expenditures were totaled for each line. The generated totals of each line were compared to reported totals. Revenues by source and expenditures by function were totaled for each column and generated totals of each column were compared to reported totals. Generated totals replaced reported totals if differences were within ranges set in the error resolution guidelines. If differences between generated and reported totals were outside these ranges, the line or column was flagged as an error.
- (2) Current year finance data was checked for consistency with prior year data. If current data increased or decreased outside ranges set in the error resolution guidelines the data item was flagged as an error.
- (3) Several consistency checks between various parts of the form were also performed. For example, Pell Grant expenditures reported in Part E could not exceed restricted federal grant revenues reported in part A and scholarship and fellowship expenditures reported in part B. Restricted state and local grants and scholarships reported in part E could not exceed revenues from restricted state and local grants and contracts reported in part A.
- (4) Telephone calls were made to check data inconsistencies if these fell outside of the error resolution guidelines. For example, if the difference between reported totals and generated totals exceeded ranges set by the guidelines, the institutions were called; if not, generated totals replaced reported totals.

- (5) Private institutions reporting federal appropriations were also flagged as an error. After calling a sample of these institutions, it was determined this revenue was from a federal work/study program and the revenue was moved to federal grants and contracts.

Imputation Procedures

- (1) Imputations for nonrespondents to the fiscal year 1996 Finance survey, who had previously responded to any of the five preceding Finance surveys (fiscal years 1991 through 1995), were based on the most recent data reported by these institutions in those years. Institutions were stratified into 11 imputation groups by highest degree granted (Doctoral with medical degrees granted, Doctoral without medical degrees granted, master's, bachelor's and associates) for public and private institutions. Private for-profit 2-year and less-than-2-year schools were combined to form the 11th group. Private for-profit 4-year institutions were combined with private non-profit institutions.

Revenues which are affected by enrollment (tuition and fees, government appropriations, grants and contracts, and auxiliary enterprises) were summed and then divided by full-time equivalent enrollment (FTE) to yield a revenue per FTE for fiscal year 1996 and for the previous years for each group. A rate of change from previous year to current year was calculated for revenues per FTE student for each group. An institutional inflation factor was calculated by multiplying the group rate of change of revenues per FTE by the ratio of current year FTE (fiscal year 1996) and prior year's FTE (fiscal year 1995) of nonresponding institutions. This inflation factor was then applied to previously reported or previously imputed part A data for the selected revenue items that are affected by enrollment. For all other revenue items not directly related to enrollment the previous year's data was adjusted by an inflation factor based on the change in gross revenues in the current year and gross revenues in the prior year without any FTE adjustment.

For parts B and E, for responding institutions selected expenditure functions related to enrollment which included instruction, student services, scholarship and fellowship expenditures and auxiliary expenditures were summed and then divided by FTE to yield an expenditure per FTE student for fiscal year 1996 and for the previous years for each group. A rate of change from previous year to current year was calculated for expenditures per FTE for each group. An institutional inflation factor was calculated by multiplying the group rate of change of expenditures per FTE by the ratio of current year FTE (fiscal year 1996) to prior year's FTE (fiscal year 1995) of nonresponding institutions. This inflation factor was then applied to previously reported or previously imputed part B data for the selected expenditure items that are affected by enrollment and all part E items. For all other expenditure items not directly related to enrollment the previous year's data was adjusted by an inflation factor based on the change in gross expenditures in the current year and gross expenditures in the prior year without any FTE adjustment.

Full-time equivalent enrollment (FTE) was computed from fall enrollment data of the corresponding fiscal year (i.e. fall 1995 enrollment for fiscal year 1995-96).

- (2) For institutions that did not respond to any of the five survey years (fiscal years 1991 through 1995), a hot deck strategy was used: Institutions completing the "F" form were sorted into hot deck groups formed as a combination of control, religious affiliation, highest degree granted, geographic region, state (if public), and presence of a medical (M.D., D.D.S., D.V.M., O.D. degree) or medical-related (chiropractic, optometric, or podiatric) school. A donor school was selected from the same hot deck group as the nonresponding institution. Fall enrollment data from 1995 were used to compute a full-time equivalent (FTE) enrollment figure for both the nonresponding institution and its matched institution. The ratio of the FTE of the recipient institution to the FTE of the donor institution was computed. The resulting factor was multiplied by the donor institution's actual value for those items which enrollment directly affects: tuition and fees, government appropriations, grants and contracts, revenues from auxiliary enterprises, instruction, student services, scholarship and fellowship, and auxiliary enterprise expenditures. All other items for the recipient's record were taken without adjustment from the donor record. This process was repeated for every data item in parts A, B and E.

- (3) Institutions that returned finance data on the CN form or were followed-up via PETS (Postsecondary Education Telephone System) supplied data in the fields as listed below:

Variable name	Description
Revenues
A013	Tuition and fees
A063	Federal government grants and contracts
CN3	State and local government grants and contracts
A113	Sales and services of educational activities
CN5	Other sources of revenues
A163	Total current funds revenues
Expenditures
B013	Instruction
B093	Scholarships and fellowships
E013	Pell Grant
E023	Other federal
CN8c	State and local
CN8d	other scholarships and fellowships
CN9	Other educational and general expenditures
B123	Total educational and general expenditures
CN11	Other current funds expenditures (non E&G)
B223	Total current funds expenditures

For eligible degree-granting institutions that returned the CN form, data were distributed to be consistent with all other eligible degree-granting institutions returning the "F" form. Data in tuition and fees (A013), federal grants and contracts (A063), sales and services of educational activities (A113) total current funds revenues (A163), instruction (B013), scholarships and fellowships (B093), Pell grants (E013), other federal scholarships (E023), total E&G expenditures (B123) and total current funds expenditures (B223) were used as reported. Revenues reported in State and local government grants and contracts (CN3) were distributed among state grants and contracts and local grants and contracts. Data reported in "other sources of revenues (CN5)" were distributed to all other revenue sources in part A. Scholarships from state and local sources (CN8c) were distributed separately into state sources and local sources. Scholarships from other sources (CN8d) were distributed between institutional and private sources. Other E&G expenditures (CN9) were distributed to all other E&G functions excluding instruction and scholarships and fellowships. All other non-E&G expenditures were distributed to non-E&G expenditure functions, such as auxiliary enterprises. Distributions were based on the average percentage distribution for institutions in the same group (described in 2). For example, 2-year public institutions were distributed according to the average percentage distribution of all public 2-year institutions. After the distribution process, the variables CN3, CN5, CN8C, CN8D, CN9 and CN11 were eliminated from the file. In 1996, this process was applied to 330 institutions. There were also 31 eligible-degree-granting institutions that did not respond to the CN form but were imputed using steps 1 or 2 above. Non-degree-granting institutions that reported on the CN form were not distributed and those that did not respond were not imputed.

- (4) If an institution reported only totals in column three for revenues and for expenditures, imputations for restricted and unrestricted revenues and expenditures were performed by distributing total columns to restricted and unrestricted based on the average distribution of schools in the non-respondent's imputation group.
- (5) If an institution reported academic support but did not report library expenditures, expenditure data from the 1996 IPEDS "Academic Library" survey were used to determine library expenditures in fiscal year 1996.
- (6) For institutions that did not report salary and wage expenditures (part B column 4, lines 1 through 8 and line 23) group ratios of salary expenditures to total expenditures (column 3, lines 1 through 8), for each expenditure category and imputation group were calculated. These ratios were then multiplied by the total reported expenditure of the institution to yield a salary expenditure for each line or category. The imputed salary expenditures were then summed to produce a total salary and wage expenditure (column 4, line 23). Fringe benefits (column 4, lines 24 through lines 26) were then calculated by multiplying the group ratios of fringe benefits per total salary and wages by the imputed total salary and wages. The total employee compensation was then calculated by summing lines 23 through 26. For institutions that did not report salary expenditures by function (column 4, lines 1 through 8), but were able to report total salary expenditures (column 4, line 23), salary expenditures by function were initially imputed as above. The imputed salary and wage expenditures by function were then summed and subtracted from the reported total salary and wages (column 4, line 23) and a balance was calculated. This balance was then distributed across all salary categories in the same proportion as total reported expenditures in column 3. In 1996, there were 22 institutions that did not report salary and wage expenditures for lines 1 through 8. Salary and wage expenditures were not imputed for auxiliary expenditures, hospitals, and independent operations. These items were added to the finance survey in fiscal year 1995.
- (7) Eighty-four public institutions included money from the Federal Direct Student Loan (NFSL) program when reporting other restricted federal grant expenditures (part E, line 2, column 2) and revenues from restricted federal grants and contracts (part A, line 6, column 2). These items were imputed for the 84 institutions because loan money is not collected on the finance survey, and the money from these loans is generally reported in tuition and fee revenues. A four-year average percent change (1992 to 1995) of other restricted federal grants was calculated for each institution. This average percent change was then multiplied by the other restricted federal grant expenditure reported by the institutions in fiscal year 1995 to yield an imputed other restricted federal grant expenditure for fiscal year 1996. The difference between the original reported restricted grant expenditure and the imputed restricted grant expenditure was assumed to be the money associated with the FDSL program. This difference was then subtracted from the reported restricted federal grant revenues.

In the 1996 finance file 343 institutions were imputed based on previously reported finance data (method 1). One hundred-six institutions were imputed using method (2) above. Three institutions were not imputed. These institutions never reported to the finance survey so using the prior year method was not possible and the institutions are unique institutions, so that finding donor institutions were not possible. Only parts A, B, and E of the finance survey form were imputed for nonresponding institutions. Institutions that were entirely imputed may be identified on the file by their response status (RSTATUS) and imputation type (IMPTYPE) codes. For responding institutions that were edited or partially imputed, imputed or edited items may be identified by the associated item imputation flags.

Cautionary Note

Because financial aspects of higher education vary widely, comparison of data by individual institutions may be misleading. Wide variations occur especially among smaller, specialized institutions and imputed values for nonresponding schools of this type may not closely match the institution's actual financial data.

User Guidelines for Processing the 1995-96 Higher Education Finance Data File

This version of the 1995-96 Finance data file contains part A (current funds revenues by source), Part B (current funds expenditures by function), and part E (scholarship and fellowship expenditures by source). These parts were fully edited and were imputed for institutions that did not respond. All other parts of the survey form were not imputed for institutions that did not respond. Data in part C (clarifying questions regarding total E&G expenditures and revenues), part D (utility expenditures), part F (library acquisitions), part G (indebtedness on physical plant), part H (details on endowment assets), part I (selected funds balances), part J (hospital revenues), and part K (physical plant assets) were edited but some edit failures were not resolved. The following general guidelines will be useful in working with the finance file:

1. File structure.

The 1996 finance data file is optimally structured for use on personal computers. The finance data file is segmented into 13 files or modules. Each module corresponds to the 11 parts A through K of the finance (F1) form. The file name for part A is F9596-A.DAT, for part B is F9596-B.DAT, etc.. File module F9596-CN.dat contains data for non-degree granting institutions that return the consolidated form. The 13th file (called F9596-IC.DAT, the finance IC module) contains the institutional characteristics data. Data elements such as control, level, religious affiliation, state codes, highest level of offering, and response status can be found on this module. Each record of every module contains a unique identification code (variable=UNITID) assigned by NCES to separately identify each institution. The UNITID variable can be found in positions 1-6 of every module and is used to link the modules with each other. All 6,960 institutions will have a record in the IC data module including (RSTATUS = 3 -- nonrespondents that were not imputed and PARCHILD = 2 -- child institutions who have all their data reported with another institution). Records for parts A through K and CN will exist only if there are finance data reported or imputed for that part. The RSTATUS variable can be found in column position 89 of the IC data module.

2. The UNITID is a constant number and will not change over time. It links all IPEDS survey data bases for that institution and can be used to merge data from one file to another (For example, total fall enrollment with finance data) for the same or different years.
3. Data field codes or ranges which are too extensive to be listed in the "Description" column of the record layout are included as separate lists in Appendix A, attached.
4. Parent/child institutions. Some institutions do not report finance data for individual campuses, but report the data with the system office or with the main campus. Institutions that report their data with another institution are known as child institutions and are identified on the file by the variable PARCHILD=2. Institutions that report the data (parent institutions) are identified by PARCHILD=1. There are cases where child institutions (PARCHILD=3) report their own data, but also indicate that some finance data reported at the main institution (PARCHILD=1) partially belong to them. The institution where data are being reported can be a central/system office or main campus or another institution. The record of a parent or child institution has a data field called UNITIDX, which can be found in file positions 92-97 of the IC data module. This field contains the UNITID of the parent institution record. For the parent record the UNITIDX field is the same as the UNITID. This data field will enable the user to link the child record with the parent record. The PARCHILD variable is located in column 91 of the IC file module. A listing of parent/child institutions can be found in appendix B. In some cases during the imputation process it was determined that nonresponding institutions responded to a previous finance survey as a parent/child. These institutions were imputed as a parent/child for fiscal year 1996.

5. There are central/system offices on the finance file that report data and do not indicate that the data pertains to the branch campuses. These institutions are listed in appendix C and identified on the file by the variables (SECTOR=0 and RSTATUS=1).
6. The Office of Postsecondary Education Identification Number (OPEID) is the identification number assigned to institutions that are in the Postsecondary Education Participants System (PEPS). This system is maintained by the Office of Postsecondary Education (OPE) which tracks the eligibility status of postsecondary institutions. An institution that has an OPEID identifies it as being in both IPEDS and PEPS. The eligibility status of an institution can be found in an OPE indicator variable called (OPEIND, field position 130). All institutions that are eligible to participate in Title IV aid programs will have a value of "1" in this position. A value of "2" was given to any branch campus, or system office in IPEDS that was not identified as being eligible by PEPS but was part of a main campus that is eligible. Also, any U.S. service school not in PEPS was given a value of "2". IPEDS will consider any institution with a value of "1" or "2" as being eligible to participate in Title IV federal financial aid programs. The OPEID is an 8-digit code and is found in positions 122-129 of the data file. The first 6 digits of the OPEID identify the main campus. The last 2 digits represent branch campuses or additional locations and are coded as 01,02...99. For the main campus the last 2-digits will always be "00". For branch campuses of an eligible main campus in IPEDS that is not in PEPS, the last 2 digits are coded as A1, A2...A9.
7. As mentioned earlier IPEDS will now maintain a subset of institutions called degree-granting institutions. A degree-granting institution is any institution that offers an associate's, bachelor's, master's, doctor's, or first-professional degree. Institutions that grant only certificates or awards of any length program (less-than-2-years or 2-years or more) are categorized as non-degree-granting institutions. Codes for identifying degree-granting institutions are defined by the variable called HDEGOFFR (highest degree offered located in record position 131-132, see appendix A, list 9 for values).
8. Many institutions also carry a FICE code, which is a 6-digit code maintained for historical purposes. This identifier was originally created by the Federal Interagency Committee on Education (FICE) to distinguish postsecondary schools that qualified as higher education institutions (IHE's) from other postsecondary institutions. IHE'S were accredited at the college level by an agency or association recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education, and they were legally authorized to offer at least a 1-year program of study creditable toward a degree. These were the institutions that were formerly included in the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS) system 1966-1985, or are newly accredited institutions of higher education. For many years, the U.S. Department of Education updated its list of 'higher education' institutions. The Department, however, no longer makes a distinction between higher education institutions and other postsecondary institutions that are eligible to participate in Title IV federal financial aid programs. IPEDS will no longer use the FICE code to define higher education institutions. However, the FICE code will be kept on the file because it is needed to merge IPEDS files from 1986 through the present with the HEGIS files.

Caution must be exercised when merging both IPEDS and HEGIS data files. A school may have several entries in IPEDS where only one existed in HEGIS. The reason for this is that IPEDS requests separate reporting by all institutions and their branches as long as each entity offers at least one complete program of study. Under the HEGIS system of data collection, only separately accredited branches of an institution were surveyed as separate entities, whereas branches that were NOT separately accredited were combined with the appropriate entity for purposes of data collection and reporting.

In order to identify and link the institutions or branches in IPEDS that reported as one school in HEGIS, NCES has developed "dummy" FICE codes, i.e., FICE codes with a "9" in the first position. For example, UNITID 127787 is Parks Junior College - Denver, Colorado, with FICE code 004507. The HEGIS reports for Parks Junior College included data for the Aurora campus. IPEDS surveys the Aurora campus separately; thus the IPEDS file will carry two records --

127787 Parks Junior College - Denver FICE = 004507
366544 Parks Junior College - Aurora FICE = 904507

The schools can be linked by their FICE codes, which are identical except in the first position. Accreditation of the Aurora branch is covered by the Denver branch, i.e., the institution that carries the "actual" (non-dummy) FICE code.

In summary, the assignment of dummy FICE codes permits analysts to re-aggregate main and branch campus data to match the information reported in the former HEGIS system.

9. Institutions that were not accredited at the higher education level and were mailed a consolidated form, but became accredited during the processing year had FICE codes added. In 1995, there were 13 such institutions that returned a CN form.
10. The F9596-IC.DAT file contains an indicator in position 115, which identifies the 103 Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU's) present on the finance data file. List 6 of appendix A lists these institutions plus two other HBCU's that are not accredited at the collegiate level. These institutions are also on both the listing established by the White House Initiative and the list issued by the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Postsecondary Education (OPE) (which notes eligibility for Title III funding at the undergraduate level), with some exceptions. The following schools are not defined as HBCU's by OPE because they do not fit the guidelines for Title III funding: The University of the District of Columbia, Howard University, Interdenominational Theological Center, and Clinton Junior College. Natchez College is flagged as an HBCU for tracking purposes only; it was included prior to 1979 when it lost its accreditation.

Recently, OPE has recognized certain graduate level programs at Historically Black

Institutions, as qualifying for Title III funding. Institutions with the programs are listed below for reference:

Included with this file is a data file called RDF9596.SAS. This file contains SAS program statements, which can be used to convert the raw ASCII data file into a PC SAS system file. The SAS program then sums all financial data items on the file. The results are included in an ASCII data file called FINTOTAL.prn (see appendix E). To obtain a printed version of this file, print directly from DOS to a Hewlett Packard printer (HP4 or above). If a HP printer is not available, import the file into any word processing language.

This data file can be processed with any programming languages such as Basic, C, Pascal etc.; and most statistical packages, such as PC SAS or SPSS. Database software such as DBASE, Microsoft Access and FOXPRO can also be used. A skeleton Microsoft Access file containing Access file specifications that can be used to create databases of the finance data are included with this file.

List 7 - Carnegie Foundation Classification Codes

The 1994 classification system created by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching is included in the IPEDS data files to help users of this information further delineate institutions by type. This classification, which dates back to 1970, currently includes approximately 3,600 colleges and universities in the United States that are degree-granting and accredited by an agency recognized by the Secretary, U.S. Department of Education. The 10 categories that make up the new classification scheme are based largely on academic mission and are not intended to measure quality. Institutions are classified according to their highest level of offering, the number of degrees conferred by discipline, and the amount of federal support for research received by the institution. Some categories also rely on the selectivity of the institution's admissions.

Information provided by the Carnegie Foundation was matched against the IPEDS "Institutional Characteristics" file and the codes are indicated in the institutional listings where matches were certain. It is important for users to note that IPEDS includes separate listings for all branches of an institution, whereas, in some instances, Carnegie lists only one campus (which encompasses the main campus and all branches). Each of the categories, and the coding scheme used in this file, are explained below:

11 - RESEARCH UNIVERSITIES I

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs, are committed to graduate education through the doctorate, and give high priority to research. They award 50 or more doctoral degrees each year. In addition, they receive annually $40 million or more in federal support.

12 - RESEARCH UNIVERSITIES II

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs, are committed to graduate education through the doctorate, and give high priority to research. They award 50 or more doctoral degrees each year. In addition, they receive annually between $15.5 million and $40 million in federal support.

13 - DOCTORAL UNIVERSITIES I

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the doctorate. They award at least 40 doctoral degrees annually in five or more disciplines.

14 - DOCTORAL UNIVERSITIES II

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the doctorate. They award annually at least 10 doctoral degrees (in three or more disciplines), or 20 or more doctoral degrees in one or more disciplines.

21 - MASTER'S (COMPREHENSIVE) UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES I

These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the master's degree. They award 40 or more master's degrees annually in three or more disciplines.

Appendix A

31 - BACCALAUREATE (LIBERAL ARTS) COLLEGES I

These institutions are primarily undergraduate colleges with major emphasis on baccalaureate degree programs. They award 40 percent or more of their baccalaureate degrees in liberal arts fields and are restrictive in admissions.

32 - BACCALAUREATE COLLEGES II

These institutions are primarily undergraduate colleges with major emphasis on baccalaureate degree programs. They award less than 40 percent of their baccalaureate degrees in liberal arts fields or are less restrictive in admissions.

40 - ASSOCIATE OF ARTS COLLEGES

These institutions offer associate of arts certificate or degree programs and, with few exceptions, offer no baccalaureate degrees.

SPECIALIZED INSTITUTIONS

These institutions offer degrees ranging from the baccalaureate to the doctorate. At least 50 percent of the degrees awarded by these institutions are in a single discipline.

- 51 -       Theological seminaries, Bible colleges and other institutions offering degrees in religion: This category includes institutions at which the primary purpose is to offer religious instruction or train members of the clergy.

Appendix B: Listing of Parent/Child Institutions

The following lists all parent/child institutions on the finance data file and identifies which part or parts of the survey that the institution responded. The survey part code for example "A" denotes the institution responded to part A, and a value of "-" denotes no response to that particular survey part. This listing identifies parent/child institutions that report all their data at the parent institution (parent/child=2) such as Faulkner University. It also identifies parent/child institutions that report data at both the parent and children institutions, as the Los Angeles Community College System, which reports parts G, I, and K at the system office, but reports parts A, B, and E for each campus. An "*" coded before the name of the institution denotes that the institution did not respond and data was imputed.
